

James H. Quigley

Jim Quigley is Chief Executive Officer of Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu (Deloitte). Deloitte provides audit, tax, consulting, and financial advisory services to public and private clients in 140 countries. Prior to his current role, Jim was the CEO of Deloitte United States. Throughout his 36 years with the organization, Jim has taken on a number of leadership roles and built a distinguished track record of service to many multinational clients.

Jim is actively engaged in a number of international business organizations and committees, each working to help shape the policies for a successful and sustainable global economy. He is U.S. co-chairman of the TransAtlantic Business Dialogue (TABD) and a member of the board of trustees of the U.S. Council for International Business (USCIB) and the German Marshall Fund of the United States. He is also a member of the Council on Competitiveness, the Shanghai International Financial Advisory Council and the Yale CELI Board of Advisors. He has also served on the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission Advisory Committee on Improvements to Financial Reporting (CIFiR).

Jim is regularly asked to share his perspective on global business trends and potential challenges at events such as the annual World Economic Forum in Davos, the annual Boao Forum for Asia, and the annual German Marshall Fund Brussels Forum.

Jim is involved in various business and community groups in the United States, including Japan Society, and The Economic Club of New York. His memberships include the Business Roundtable and the National Advisory Committee – Brigham Young University.

Jim is a past member of the task force on the role and mission for the United Way of Tri-State, USA (Connecticut/New Jersey/New York) and a former board member of Catalyst, the Center for Audit Quality, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the Financial Accounting Foundation, and Junior Achievement of New York City. He also has served on numerous committees of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

Jim received his Bachelor of Science degree and an honorary Doctorate of Business from Utah State University. He also was awarded an honorary degree of Doctor of Commercial Science from Bentley College in Waltham, Massachusetts.